Commentary

One contributing factor to the strength in western markets this year has been the high level of mergers and acquisition (M&A) activity. According to Bloomberg data, the transaction value of global M&A activity in 2006 to date is US$3,255bn, up 39% on comparable 2005 data, and nearly triple that of 2003. In the mining sector, the growth is even more marked with the year-to-date transaction value of US$185bn, an increase of 180% on 2005 and 5 times that of 2003. M&A activity in South Africa has only recently started to reflect this global trend with a noticeable increase in recent months. Industry consolidators and private equity funds are typically attracted by companies that are well managed and globally competitive, hold strategic assets, have under-gearred balance sheets and strong cashflows, and are attractively priced. These are the same qualities that we use when selecting stocks. We believe a number of the Fund's holdings are well positioned to benefit from any continuation of the recent trend.
