Allan Gray Bond Fund

31 January 2023

Fund description and summary of investment policy

The Fund invests in South African interest bearing securities. Securities include national government, parastatal, municipal, corporate bonds and money market instruments. The Fund price is sensitive to interest rate movements because of the long-term nature of the Fund's investments. The duration of the Fund may differ materially from the benchmark. The Fund is managed to comply with investment limits governing retirement funds.

ASISA unit trust category: South African – Interest Bearing – Variable Term

Fund objective and benchmark

The Bond Fund's goal is to deliver returns that exceed inflation and cash over the long term, without taking on undue risk. The Fund's benchmark is the FTSE/JSE All Bond Index.

How we aim to achieve the Fund's objective

We try to balance credit risk, duration risk and liquidity risk when selecting investments. We target total returns for investors rather than trying to mirror the returns of the FTSE/JSE All Bond Index. When we cannot find value in the bond markets, our portfolio will be weighted towards cash to achieve better returns.

Suitable for those investors who

- Seek a bond 'building block' for a diversified multi-asset class portfolio
- Are looking for returns in excess of those provided by money market or cash investments
- Are prepared to accept more risk of capital depreciation than in a money market or cash investment

Minimum investment amounts*

Fund manager quarterly commentary as at 31 December 2022

Increasing price pressures set the tone from the beginning of 2022, due to a confluence of factors that would ultimately push inflation to generational highs. The reopening of economies after the lifting of pandemic lockdowns caused demand to bounce back more rapidly than supply, which itself was stymied by a number of backlogs, including shortages of anything from staff to container vessels. The Russo-Ukrainian War resulted in global oil and food prices, which were already on an uptrend at the beginning of the year, reaching levels last seen around a decade ago.

The escalating cost-of-living crisis forced major central banks to act, albeit belatedly, with most – including the European Central Bank and the US Federal Reserve (the Fed) – implementing sizeable interest rate hikes. However, the jury is still out on how far central banks will have to go to get inflation to more palatable levels.

The aggressive Fed action resulted in rising US Treasury yields and a resurgent US dollar, which slammed emerging market countries twice: by triggering investor outflows (raising funding costs) and weakening their currencies (raising import costs). This series of unfortunate events could not have come at a worse time for emerging markets, especially African countries still recovering from the pandemic. Rising global food prices were exacerbated by weather-related shocks to local agricultural production, such as drought in the Horn of Africa and floods in West Africa. Crucially, limited fiscal space meant that governments could do very little to shield their populations from higher costs.

In South Africa, high commodity prices have been a saving grace for the economy and the national budget, despite the floods in KwaZulu-Natal taking a bite out of economic growth and causing extensive harm to people, businesses and infrastructure. Furthermore, the failures of key state-owned entities (SOEs), such as Eskom and Transnet, prevented South African producers from taking full advantage of elevated global demand. Fiscal pressures continue to loom large on the horizon, most notably from extended social grants, public sector salaries, SOE bailouts and failing municipalities.

The South African Reserve Bank raised interest rates by a cumulative 3.25% during the year. The repo rate is now higher than it was before the pandemic, with indications that the Monetary Policy Committee may do even more given many moving parts and heightened uncertainty.

Finally, there was high political drama in December, with the long-awaited Phala Phala report casting a dark cloud over President Cyril Ramaphosa and bringing the likelihood of him staying in power into question. Until there is some certainty about the President's fate, the negative overhang will continue to weigh on the rand and bonds.

South African bonds had a tough year which also affected the Allan Gray Bond Fund. The FSTE/JSE All Bond Index (ALBI) delivered only 4.3% and the Fund just 3.5%. This performance is disappointing in the context of money market returns of 5.2% and the November inflation print of 7.4%. However, the outlook for the year ahead is more positive. With the repo rate at 7%, above its pre-pandemic level of 6.5%, floating rate notes (FRNs) and negotiable certificates of deposit (NCDs) are now providing real returns with significantly lower interest rate risk than fixed-rate bonds.

During the quarter, we sold MTN and short-dated Standard Bank paper, and we bought long-dated FirstRand and Standard Bank FRNs. The Fund remains conservatively positioned from a credit, liquidity and duration perspective, with the majority of instruments being that of the South African government and large banks. The modified duration of the Fund is 0.7 years less than that of the ALBI.

Performance

Collective investment schemes in securities (unit trusts or funds) are generally medium- to long-term investments. The value of units may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to future performance. The Management Company does not provide any guarantee regarding the capital or the performance of the Fund. Performance figures are provided by the Investment Manager and are for lump sum investments with income distributions reinvested. Actual investor performance may differ as a result of the investment date, the date of reinvestment and applicable taxes.

Fund mandate

Funds may be closed to new investments at any time in order to be managed according to their mandates. Unit trusts are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. The funds may borrow up to 10% of their market value to bridge insufficient liquidity.

Unit price

Unit trust prices are calculated on a net asset value basis, which is the total market value of all assets in the Fund, including any income accruals and less any permissible deductions from the Fund, divided by the number of units in issue. Forward pricing is used and fund valuations take place at approximately 16:00 each business day. Purchase and redemption requests must be received by the Management Company by 14:00 each business day to receive that day's price. Unit trust prices are available daily on www.allangray.co.za.

Yield

The Allan Gray Bond Fund yield is current, calculated as at month-end.

Fees

Permissible deductions may include management fees, brokerage, securities transfer tax, auditor's fees, bank charges and trustee fees. A schedule of fees, charges and maximum commissions is available on request from Allan Gray.

Total expense ratio (TER) and transaction costs

The total expense ratio (TER) is the annualised percentage of the Fund's average assets under management that has been used to pay the Fund's actual expenses over the past one- and three-year periods. The TER includes the annual management fees that have been charged (both the fee at benchmark and any performance component charged), VAT and other expenses like audit and trustee fees. Transaction costs (including brokerage, securities transfer tax, Share Transactions Totally Electronic (STRATE) and FSCA Investor Protection Levy and VAT thereon) are shown separately. Transaction costs are necessary costs in administering the Fund and impact Fund returns. They should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over time, including market returns, the type of financial product, the investment decisions of the investment manager, and the TER. Since Fund returns are quoted after the deduction of these expenses, the TER and transaction costs should not be deducted again from published returns. As unit trust expenses vary, the current TER cannot be used as an indication of future TERs. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. Instead, when investing, the investment objective of the Fund should be aligned with the investor's objective and compared against the performance of the Fund. The TER and other funds' TERs should then be used to evaluate whether the Fund performance offers value for money. The sum of the TER and transaction costs is shown as the total investment charge (TIC).

Compliance with Regulation 28

The Fund is managed to comply with Regulation 28 of the Pension Funds Act 24 of 1956. Exposures in excess of the limits will be corrected immediately, except where due to a change in the fair value or characteristic of an asset, e.g. market value fluctuations, in which case they will be corrected within a reasonable time period. The Management Company does not monitor compliance by retirement funds with section 19(4) of the Pension Funds Act (item 6 of Table 1 to Regulation 28).
