Commentary

The disparity within the South African market has narrowed, both in terms of the major sectors and in terms of the size of companies. We are currently finding reasonably broad based value within the market from a long-term perspective. We continue to increase our exposure to selected banking shares and lighten our holdings in South African consumer industrial shares, which have outperformed over the last couple of years. Within resources, we remain overweight Sasol and selected gold shares. While gold companies earnings are under pressure in the short-term due to rand strength, a company like Harmony should generate approximately R9/share at a more normal R3200/oz gold price.
