Commentary

The Fund continues to have a relatively low exposure to South African shares given the significant rise over the last three years. The Fund is maintaining its offshore exposure as close as practically possible to the maximum of 15%. The recent weakness in the value of the Rand over the last quarter has boosted the Rand returns from these offshore investments, and augmented the performance of the Fund. The 4.3% exposure to the Newgold ETF has also benefited from Rand weakness. We continue to hold these positions in the belief that the Rand will have a negative bias until South Africa's growing current account deficit returns to more normal levels. This is consistent with the Fund's objective of seeking real returns with a high level of capital stability.

Collective Investment Schemes in Securities (unit trusts) are generally medium- to long-term investments. The value of participatory interests (units) may go down as well as up and past performance is not necessarily a guide to the future. Unit trust prices are calculated on a net asset value basis, which is the total value of all assets in the portfolio including any income accrual and less any permissible deductions from the portfolio. Unit trusts are traded at ruling prices and can engage in borrowing and scrip lending. A schedule of fees and charges and maximum commissions is available on request from Allan Gray Unit Trust Management Limited. Commission and incentives may be paid and if so, would be included in the overall costs. Forward pricing is used. Fluctuations or movements in exchange rates may cause the value of underlying international investments to go up or down. All of the unit trusts may be capped at any time in order for them to be managed in accordance with their mandates. Member of the ACI.
