

Our Thinking

When investors are scarce and investments are plentiful, investors pay low prices and investments offer high returns. When investors are plentiful and investments are scarce, investors pay high prices and investments offer low returns. A look at valuations today suggests that markets are in the latter camp.

Stockmarkets trade near record valuations on multiple metrics, and corporate bond yields are at record lows. Rising valuations, not growth in expected earnings, drove all of the return for stockmarkets last year.

Those rich prices come despite the best efforts of issuers to take advantage of investor demand. In 2020, issuance of government bonds, corporate bonds, and equity all hit post-war records, and the party has continued in 2021, with the most indebted and least profitable businesses enjoying their best funding conditions and share price performance in decades.

In short, there are plenty of signs of too much money chasing too few deals. But one vehicle deserves special mention—Special Purpose Acquisition Companies, or SPACs. A SPAC is a shell company that raises money for the sole purpose of acquiring another business—essentially a box of cash looking for a deal. Their popularity has exploded. In the ten years to 2019, 226 SPACs raised $47bn in total. In 2020, 248 SPACs raised almost twice as much money as all prior years combined, and the first few months of 2021 are on track to exceed that record-breaking year in both number and size!

At the time of writing, Bloomberg data showed there were 300 SPACs holding more than $90bn in total that were still searching for deals. Almost all of them trade at premiums—in other words, people are paying more than $10 for a box with $10 in it. Some trade at premiums of 30% or more! And many of these companies are competing for similar deals. Of the $90bn raised, fully $30bn is earmarked for technology businesses, with much of the rest targeting fintech or biotech firms. Not wanting to miss out, celebrities such as Shaquille O’Neal, Alex Rodriguez, and Jay-Z have joined the SPAC party. Celebrity involvement seldom heralds a market bottom.

If a handful of SPACs with a few billion dollars were hunting for deals, they might find bargains, and paying a premium might make sense. But with investors backing hundreds of SPACs in a $90bn money-throwing contest, many are likely to overpay.

Remaining disciplined in an environment like this isn’t easy. To butcher the Keynes line, the market can remain irrational longer than you can stand watching your neighbours get rich.

We have always feared losing money more than we fear missing out, so we remain focused on finding companies trading at a discount to our assessment of their long-term fundamental value. From that perspective, the good news is that the exuberance is far from universal. The US market has grown to represent 61% of the FTSE World Index (and probably even more of the froth) but only 29% of our Global Equity Strategy. While we have found some attractive opportunities in the US, most of our best ideas are elsewhere. Globally, valuation spreads remain exceptionally wide, even after the rotation in markets we’ve seen since November, leaving many shares trading at attractive valuations.

Here, we take comfort from a pattern common to periods of speculative excess. As hot investments draw ever more interest, perfectly good companies are left selling at attractive prices out of sheer neglect. This has let us find a number of solid businesses which, chiefly through growth and dividends, should offer double-digit long-term returns. In an expensive market, that looks like a compelling proposition.

Some examples are literally and figuratively on the opposite side of the world from the excitement in the US. Though not conversation starters like today’s hot stocks, we have found several time-tested Japanese businesses with undemanding valuations, decent growth prospects, and chunky dividend yields. The Japanese trading company Mitsubishi has grown book value per share by 7% per annum for decades, and today offers a dividend yield of 4.5%. Similarly, we expect Nippon Telegraph and Telephone, Japan’s largest telecoms operator, to grow earnings per share by 8-10% per annum over our horizon, and it yields 3.5%. Brewer Asahi Group, which also owns brands like Peroni, is in normal times a predictable business, but sold off when Covid closed bars. A return to its normal steady growth combined with its 2.3% dividend yield suggest double-digit long-term return potential.

Asahi’s pattern is similar to that of Comcast, whose main business (broadband) is predictable, but where recent sentiment has fixated on short-term challenges (Covid shutting Universal theme parks). South of the US border, Fomento Económico Mexicano owns a convenience store chain as well as stakes in Heineken and a Coca-Cola bottler. All three are classic consumer staples businesses that have seen temporary uncertainty from Covid. We could go on—many solid businesses across the Orbis Strategies offer a similar combination of refuge and return potential.

Opportunities like these give us some comfort about the Strategies’ long-term absolute return potential, just as the exceptional valuation gaps we see make us excited about the relative return potential of the portfolios. And at a time when concerns about market valuations are rising, it is worth remembering that an active investment is not the same as an investment in “the market”. With an active share of 93%, the overlap between the Orbis Global Equity Strategy and the FTSE World Index is just 7%.

This report does not constitute a recommendation to buy, sell or hold any interests, shares or other securities in the companies mentioned in it nor does it constitute financial advice.

Fund Objective and Benchmark

The Fund seeks higher returns than the average of the equity stock markets of the world's emerging market countries, without greater risk of loss. The MSCI Emerging Markets Index, including income, net of withholding taxes, is the Fund's benchmark (the “MSCI Emerging Markets Index”).

How We Aim to Achieve the Fund's Objective/Adherence to Objective

The Fund is actively managed and is designed to be exposed to all of the risks and rewards of selected Emerging Market equities. The Fund expects to be not less than 90% invested in Emerging Market equity and equity-linked investments. The Fund identifies Emerging Market equity and equity-linked investments as those investments that are issued by a corporate body or other entity domiciled or primarily located in a country represented in the MSCI Emerging Markets Index or the MSCI Frontier Markets Index (together, “Emerging Markets”), traded or listed on an exchange in an Emerging Market or issued by a corporate body or other entity whose business is significantly linked to Emerging Markets. These equities are selected using extensive proprietary investment research. Orbis devotes a substantial proportion of its business efforts to detailed “bottom up” investment research conducted with a long-term perspective, believing that such research makes superior long-term performance attainable. The lower the price of a share as compared to its assessed intrinsic value, the more attractive Orbis considers the equity's fundamental value. The Investment Manager believes that over the long term, equity investing based on this approach offers superior returns and reduces the risk of loss. The Fund may, to the extent permitted by its investment restrictions, also periodically hold cash and cash equivalents when the Investment Manager considers this to be consistent with the Fund's investment objective.

Exchange rate fluctuations significantly influence global investment returns. For this reason, part of Orbis' research effort is devoted to forecasting currency trends. Taking into account these expected trends, the Investment Manager actively reviews the Fund's currency exposure, focusing, in particular, on managing the Fund's exposure to those currencies considered less likely to hold their long-term value.

The Fund does not seek to mirror the MSCI Emerging Markets Index and may deviate meaningfully from it in pursuit of superior long-term capital appreciation.

The net returns of the Shared Investor RRF Class (A) from its inception on 14 May 2020, stitched with the net returns of the Investor Share Class from the Fund's inception to 14 May 2020, have underperformed the stitched Performance Fee Benchmarks of the respective classes. The Fund will experience periods of underperformance in pursuit of its long-term objective.

Risk/Reward Profile

- The Fund is aimed at investors who are seeking a portfolio the objective of which is to be invested in, and exposed to, Emerging Market securities.
- Investments in the Fund may suffer capital loss.
- Investors should understand that the Investment Manager generally assesses an equity investment's attractiveness using a three-to-five year time horizon.

Management Fee

As described in more detail in the Fund's Prospectus, the Fund's various share classes bear different management fees. The fees are designed to align the Manager's and Investment Manager's interests with those of investors in the Fund.

For an initial period of time, the Shared Investor RRF Class (A) is charging the fee of the Investor Share Class, reduced by 0.3% per annum. Numerous investors have switched to the Shared Investor RRF Class (A) from the Investor Share Class. This temporary measure will ensure that the fees paid by investors account for underperformance experienced by the Investor Share Class before the inception date of the Shared Investor RRF Class (A). The fee of the Investor Share Class that is currently being charged to the Shared Investor RRF Class (A) is calculated as follows:

The fee rate is calculated weekly by comparing the Class' performance over three years against the MSCI Emerging Markets Index. For each percentage point of three year performance above or below that performance, 0.04 percentage points are added to or deducted from 1.5%, subject to the following limits:

- Maximum fee: 2.5% per annum
- Minimum fee: 0.5% per annum

This fee is then reduced by 0.3% per annum. This 0.3% per annum reduction is provided because investors in the Shared Investor RRF Class (A) are subject to an additional administrative fee, as they separately agree with Allan Gray Proprietary Limited (or one of its affiliates) from time to time.

The Shared Investor RRF Class (A) will continue to charge the fee of the Investor Share Class, reduced by 0.3% per annum, until the earlier of the first dealing day (a) on or after 14 May 2023, or (b) on which the average management fee charged by the Investor Share Class equals or exceeds 1.5% per annum of the Investor Share Class' net assets for the period ending on that dealing day and beginning on the later of (i) 12 months prior to that dealing day, or (ii) 14 May 2020. After this point, the Class' management fee will instead be charged as follows:

- Base Fee: Calculated and accrued weekly at a rate of 0.8% per annum of the Class' net asset value. Investors separately pay an administrative fee directly to Allan Gray Proprietary Limited or one of its affiliates. The Investment Manager or one of its affiliates is entitled to receive a separate fee from Allan Gray Proprietary Limited or one of its affiliates in connection with this administrative fee, related to services the Investment Manager and its affiliates provide to Allan Gray Proprietary Limited or its affiliates.
- Refundable Performance Fee: When the performance of the Shared Investor RRF Class (A) (after deducting the Base Fee and an additional 0.3% per annum, which is deemed to be representative of the aforementioned administrative fee) beats the Performance Fee Benchmark over the period from one dealing day to the next, 25% of the value of the outperformance is paid into a reserve and reinvested into the Fund. If the value of the reserve is positive on any dealing day, the Investment Manager is entitled to a performance fee in an amount capped at the lesser of an annualised rate of (a) one-third of the reserve's net asset value and (b) 2.5% of the net asset value of the Shared Investor RRF Class (A). Fees paid from the reserve to the Investment Manager are not available to be refunded as described below.

When the performance of the Shared Investor RRF Class (A) (after deducting the Base Fee and the aforementioned additional 0.3% per annum) trails the Performance Fee Benchmark over the period from one dealing day to the next, 25% of the value of the underperformance is refunded from the reserve to the Shared Investor RRF Class (A). If at any time sufficient value does not exist in the reserve to provide the refund, a reserve recovery mark is set, and subsequent underperformance is tracked. Such relative losses must be recovered before any outperformance results in any payment to the reserve.

Please review the Fund's prospectus for additional detail and for a description of the management fee borne by the Fund's other share classes.

Notes to Help You Understand This Report

Certain capitalised terms are defined in the Glossary section of the Orbis Funds' respective Prospectuses, copies of which are available upon request from Allan Gray Unit Trust Management (RF) Proprietary Limited, a Member of the Association for Savings & Investments SA. The country and currency classification for securities follows that of third-party providers for comparability purposes. Emerging Markets follows MSCI classification when available and includes Frontier Markets. Emerging Markets currency exposure is based on currency denomination. Based on a number of factors including the location of the underlying business, Orbis may consider a security's classification to be different and manage the Funds' exposures accordingly. Totals presented in this Report may not sum due to rounding.

Risk measures are ex-post and calculated on a monthly return series. Months to recovery measures the number of months from the preceding peak in performance to recovery of that level of performance.

12 month portfolio turnover for the Orbis Equity and Multi-Asset Class Funds is calculated as the lesser of total security purchases or sales in the Fund over the period, divided by the average net asset value (NAV) of the Fund. Cash and cash equivalents are not included.

12 month name turnover for the Orbis Equity and Multi-Asset Class Funds is calculated as the number of positions held by the Fund at the start of the period but no longer held at the end of the period, divided by the total number of positions held by the Fund at the start of the period. Cash and cash equivalents are not included.

Active share is a measure of the extent to which the holdings of the Orbis Equity and Multi-Asset Class Funds differ from their respective benchmark's holdings. It is calculated by summing the absolute value of the differences of the weight of each individual security in the specific Orbis Fund, versus the weight of each holding in the respective benchmark index, and dividing by two. For the Multi-Asset Class Funds, three calculations of active share are disclosed. The Portfolio active share incorporates the equity, fixed income, commodity-linked and other securities (as applicable) held by the Orbis Fund and compares those to the holdings of the composite benchmark. The Equity and Fixed Income active shares are calculated as if the equity and fixed income portions of the Orbis Funds are independent funds; each of those two sets of holdings is separately compared to the fully-weighted holdings in the appropriate component of the composite benchmark. Although the Multi-Asset Class Funds hedge stock and bond market exposure, the active share calculations are "gross" and not adjusted to reflect the hedging in place at any point in time.

The total expense ratio has been calculated using the expenses, excluding trading costs, for the 12 month period ending 28 February 2021.
